A. Read the different statements below and answer the succeeding questions. In answering, take note the discerning points between empiricism and rationalism.

1. When you are studying or reviewing lessons, are you more likely to take the rationalist viewpoint or empiricist viewpoint? Why?

2. How do you apply empiricism and/or rationalism in studying your lessons? Be specific and concrete. Try to remember your habits and how you make sense of the lessons.

3. Is it possible to make use of both philosophical approaches? Why or why not?

4. What is your philosophy of the self? Plot your answer in the box below.

B. Identify from which parent you have inherited the following attributes.

Attributes	Father	Mother	Both	Neither
Height
Weight
Shape of face
Eyes
Nose
Ears
Lips
Color of hair
Skin complexion
Feet size
Body size structure

After accomplishing the above table, answer the following questions:

1. In terms of your physical features, who do you resemble more- your father or mother? How do you say so?

2. In terms of temperament or disposition (quiet/loud, jolly/serious), who do you take after- your father or mother? Explain your answer.

3. Based on your answers to the preceding questions, do you think when you reach your dominant parent's age, you will also be like him or her? Why or why not?
